

SURFACE RECEPTOR ANTIGEN VACCINES

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

The invention provides compositions and methods directed to cell surface receptor antigen specific vaccines. More specifically, vaccines are provided that induce or enhance host antibody titers specific for cell surface receptor antigens and that include recombinant expression constructs containing nucleic acids encoding a target cell surface receptor antigen and one or more immune response altering molecules, or the expressed products themselves.